DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, claims 1-8 in Paper No. 13 received October 2, 2003 is acknowledged. The traversal presents no grounds for withdrawal/reconsideration of the Restriction Requirement. Thus, claims 9-17 and 20-26 are withdrawn from consideration. The Applicant previously canceled claims 18 and 19.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC §101

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The basis of this rejection is set forth in a two-prong test of:

- (1) whether the invention is within the technological arts; and
- (2) whether the invention produces a useful, concrete, and tangible result.

For a claimed invention to be statutory, the claimed invention must be within the technological arts. Mere ideas in the abstract (i.e., abstract idea, law of nature, natural phenomena) that do not apply, involve, use, or advance the technological arts fail to promote the "progress of science and the useful arts" (i.e., the physical sciences as opposed to social sciences, for example) and therefore are found to be non-statutory subject matter. For a process claim, the recited process must somehow apply, involve, use, or advance the technological arts. In the present case, claims 1-8 only recite an abstract idea.

The recited steps of offering a plurality of deals, inputting price and non-price buying criteria and outputting a plurality of deals in real time does not apply, involve, use, or advance the technological arts since all of the recited steps can be performed in the mind of the user or by use of a pencil and paper. These steps only constitute an idea of how to offer deals.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Case et al, US 5,734,890.

Case discloses in Table 1 a plurality of price and non-price buying criteria for a buyer for purchases products and services, e.g. a computer system. Case does not disclose the term “real time” in its business methodology. To have provided real time outputting of a plurality of deals that match the buying criteria of a buyer for Case would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. Doing such would provide common knowledge computer implemented business transactions in a buyer/seller deal matching system. Also, Official Notice is taken that the criteria listed in claims 2-8 are common knowledge buyer/seller negotiating items that are notoriously well known in the business economic world. To do such for Case would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. Doing such would have implemented basic business acumen in the buying/selling of products or services.
